

65th Anniversary

Baker Construction Co.

65th Anniversary in 2017

65 years in business and going stronger than ever, Baker Construction is one of the oldest originally established mason contractors in Michigan.

Ray Baker started Baker Construction in 1952 with a truck, trowel and a dream. At that time work consisted of residential basements and porches in the Downriver area. He then transitioned to the Belleville area doing subdivision basements. Eventually he settled in the Ann Arbor area doing light industrial and small commercial contracts. 65 years later, the company is located in Whitmore Lake, housed in a two-story office building the company built, showcasing their masonry excellence. Baker's main focus is now large commercial projects specializing in university buildings, schools and hospitals.

Baker Construction is now a third generation company. Ray's two sons, Tim and Tom, eventually took over the company and are now the operating officers. His daughter, Soozie, is the office/project manager. His grandson, Nathan (Tom's son), is the field supervisor. His grandson, T.C. (Tim's son), is an estimator/project manager. Ray, at 85 years of age, still comes into the office every day.

In 2015 Baker Construction completed the University of Michigan Munger Hall Project located in Ann Arbor, Michigan. 65 years and three generations of Bakers later, the dream came true. The legacy will live on, as well as landmark masonry projects built by Baker Construction.

Klochko Equipment Rental Co.

65th Anniversary in 2016

Klochko Equipment Rental Company was founded in 1951 by Stephen Klochko, Jr. He was the sole operator and administrator along with his wife, Irene, renting out the only equipment he owned at the time – an Oliver OC3, which sits proudly on the lot at 2782 Corbin Avenue in Melvindale, MI. The fleet began to build in the early 1950s, and the company began servicing machinery in the 1980s. Today, the company is operated by Mr. Klochko's sons, Rob and Tom Klochko. They have carried on the tradition of leading a company built on fanatical quality service. There are now three locations serving the state of Michigan. The headquarters is still housed in the original building that opened 65 years ago, and there are two satellite branches located in Macomb and Saginaw.

Klochko is now an authorized dealer of Wacker Neuson, Hyundai, Genie, Skyjack, JLG, Magnum and Sullair. In addition to rentals, sales and servicing, Klochko also has an extensive parts department as well as offering aerial lift training certification.
